

violations had been on-going for “years”. See Carrera NAL at ¶ 13. The Carrera NAL recognized that “[a]lthough we propose forfeitures only for apparent violations within the last year, we discuss below the history of Carrera’s noncompliance in prior years as useful background and to demonstrate the scope of Carrera’s misconduct and the context of the misconduct that is within the statute of limitations period and thus covered by this NAL.” Id.

- International Telecom Exchange, Inc., Forfeiture Order, EB-04-IH-0654 (Rel. July 27, 2007)

The Commission found that ITE failed to make any TRS Fund contributions on a timely basis since it began providing telecommunications service in 2002. Notwithstanding the on-going nature of the alleged violations, the Commission correctly applied the one-year statute of limitations and found ITE liable for a base forfeiture in the amount of $10,000 for failing to timely pay its TRS Fund contribution that was due on September 26, 2005. The Commission did impose an upward adjustment (in the amount of half the company’s unpaid contributions) based, in large part, on the fact that ITE failed to make any TRS Fund contributions on time since it began providing telecommunications service in 2002. But, yet again, the alleged violations occurring outside the limitations period were deemed relevant only for purposes of determining culpability, pursuant to 503(b)(2)(D), not liability.

- Communications Options, Inc., Forfeiture Order, EB-06-IH-2307 (Rel. March 13, 2008)

In Communications Options, the Commission issued one of its ballyhooed “warnings” to the industry.²¹¹ However, these vague, general cautionary statements did not, and simply cannot alter the statute of limitations period.

²¹¹ “We again caution that additional violations of the Act or the Commission’s rules could subject COI to further enforcement action. Such action could take the form of higher monetary forfeitures and/or possible revocation of COI’s operating authority, including disqualification of

▪ In the Matter of Verizon Communications, Inc., 20 FCC Rcd. 4244

In Verizon, the Commission admonished, but did not impose a forfeiture against, Verizon for its failure to publicize certain services in six states in accordance with Commission rules. The Commission specifically and accurately cited the statutory limits of its forfeiture authority when concluding:

"[n]otwithstanding Verizon's violations of the Act and the Commission's rules, we do not propose a forfeiture at this time. Section 503(b)(6) specifies that a proposed forfeiture must be issued against a common carrier for violations of the Act or the Commission's rules within one year of the occurrence of the violation. Because Verizon undertook renewed outreach efforts in these six states within the last year, we are constrained from pursuing a proposed forfeiture this time. Nevertheless, we will closely monitor Verizon's outreach efforts to ensure future compliance with the Act and the Commission's rules." Id. at , 4247, ¶ 8.

As elucidated above, the Commission's own precedent clearly and unequivocally does not lend support to the Commission's proposed extension of the one-year statute of limitations period to 22-months. Therefore, the Commission's proposed 22-month forfeiture would be contrary to statute, arbitrary, capricious, and excessive and it must be reduced.

H. THE COMMISSION MAY NOT REACH BEYOND THE 12-MONTH PERIOD TO IDENTIFY A VIOLATION THAT THEN BECOMES THE STARTING POINT FOR A "CONTINUING VIOLATION."

The Commission may not arbitrarily "reach beyond" the statutorily mandated 12-month period to identify an apparent violation that then becomes the starting point for a continuing violation. Such a reading of the "continuing violation" authority completely eviscerates the Statute of Limitations and renders it meaningless and of no effect, which is clearly not what Congress intended.

COP's principals from the provision of any interstate common carrier services without the prior consent of the Commission." Id. at ¶ __, n. 16.

1. The 12-Month Clock Began Ticking When the Alleged "Continuing Violations" Stopped In September 2006.

In an obvious attempt to somehow (anyhow) create liability and impose forfeitures against Compass, the Commission asserts the extended 22-month forfeiture period by claiming that the alleged violations were "continuing." This claim is contrary to the law and the facts.

It is well-established that violations are "continuing" only until corrective action is taken. See, In the Matter of Arcom Communications Owner of Antenna Structure, 21 FCC Rcd. 8999, 2006 WL 2310791 (FCC) (finding that the violation continued until the violation was corrected by Arcom's registration of the tower on August 10, 2005. Thus, issuance of the NAL on August 17, 2005 occurred well within the limitations period.); In the Matter of Petition for Reconsideration Concerning Liability of Benito Rish, 11 FCC Rcd 2861, 2861 (finding that "[a]lthough the violative conduct began outside the bounds of our forfeiture authority, that does not undercut our ability to impose a fine for the days that the violation continued within the statutory period preceding the ... NAL").

The Commission applied this principle in its Forfeiture Order issued against *Global Teldata, II, LLC*²¹². In its Order, the Commission concluded that Global Teldata's failure to register was continuing and, therefore, repeated within the meaning of section 503. Specifically,

Global Teldata's failure to register left it outside the purview of the Commission and USAC on a continuing basis each day it provided service without registering after ²¹² Global Teldata NAL, 20 FCC Rcd at 17270-73, ¶¶ 14-22. In the NAL, the Commission proposed a forfeiture for Global Teldata's apparent willful and repeated violations of section 254(d) of the Act and sections 54.706(a), 54.711(a), and 64.1195 of the Commission's rules. The Commission proposed a forfeiture for Global Teldata's failure to register with the Commission within the one-year period preceding the issuance of the NAL. For Global Teldata's apparent failure to timely file Telecommunications Reporting Worksheets, the Commission proposed a forfeiture of $50,000 for the one instance of non-filing within the one-year period preceding the NAL (i.e., the filing due November 1, 2004). Finally, for Global Teldata's apparent failure to pay universal service contributions, the Commission proposed a base forfeiture amount of $20,000 for three months of nonpayment within the one-year period preceding the NAL (i.e., the payments due on November 15 and December 15, 2004, and January 15, 2005), for a base forfeiture and then added one-half of the total unpaid universal service contributions to the base forfeiture for a total proposed forfeiture.

April 1, 2003. These negative consequences continued through the Bureau's first knowledge of Global Teldata's non-compliance through the 2004 audit and ended only when the company finally registered with the Commission on November 17, 2004. Accordingly, we find Global Teldata's violation of section 64.1195 of the Commission's rules occurred within the one-year limitations period before the NAL was issued on October 31, 2005.

Therefore, the 12-month limitations period began ticking the moment Compass took corrective action to comply with the applicable Rules.

2. Compass Has Voluntarily Complied With the Commission's Rules Since September 2006.

On April 9, 2008, the Commission released its NAL tentatively concluding that the Company is subject to the FCC's reporting and contribution rules. Notwithstanding the claimed unenforceability of these Rules to Compass, since September 2006, the Company has complied with those rules on a purely voluntary basis. Compass has made contributions to the various federal support funds as invoiced by the respective fund administrators since the Company's initial filings of Forms 499-A in September 2006. Therefore, the alleged "continued violations" were cured in September 2006.

As explained earlier, the NAL's erroneous conclusions that Compass has failed to timely file Forms 499 and contribute to the Fund conveniently ignores the Commission's staff's waiver that effectively established an acceptable filing date of September 5, 2006 for Compass' Forms 499-A for 2005 and 2006. As has been documented herein, Compass complied with this filing deadline, and importantly, has consistently made timely submissions of FCC Forms 499-Q and 499-A since September 5, 2006. Compass also has remitted support contribution payments based upon amounts invoiced to it by the various support fund administrators beginning in October, 2006, the month following submission of its first Forms 499-A.²¹³ If the Commission wanted to propose a forfeiture for these alleged "violations" it would have had to issue an NAL on or before September -- October 2007.

I. THE PROPOSED 22-MONTH FORFEITURE IS IN ERROR AND, AT A BARE MINIMUM, A 10-MONTH CANCELLATION IS BOTH APPROPRIATE AND REQUIRED.

As discussed above, Commission precedent clearly provides that the forfeiture for liability is based only on the one-year period prior to the issuance of the NAL. The Commission's extension of the forfeiture limitations period to 22 months is arbitrary, capricious, excessive and, ultimately, unlawful.

Notably, the Commission conveniently neglected to set forth any factual or legal basis for its departure from its forfeiture liability precedent. Since the Commission has not put Compass on notice of the fact that it seeks to alter the statute of limitations, the proposed forfeiture is in error. Thus, even if the Commission were to decide that the wholesale cancellation of the proposed forfeiture penalty is inappropriate, a significant downward adjustment of the forfeiture penalty is required.

J. DISCRIMINATORY TREATMENT.

The Commission has never before imposed forfeitures extending beyond a 12-month period and never before has the Commission sought to impose liability for alleged violations that have been extinguished, as a matter of law, by the statute of limitations. As a result, to impose the proposed penalties against Compass would effect a greater punishment on Compass than penalties that have been imposed on other, similarly situated providers. As a result, the NAL arbitrarily and capriciously discriminates against Compass and, for this reason alone, the proposed forfeiture must be reduced, minimally, by 10 months.

be considered "overpayments." Compass' federal support fund payments are documented at Section II hereof. As demonstrated therein, not only is the Commission incorrect that Compass has underpaid, Compass has actually overpaid federal support contributions and fees. Moreover, inasmuch as the Commission's waiver deemed Compass' September 5, 2006, 499-A filings timely, the FCC's rules mandate the acceptance by USAC of Compass' revised filings, submitted to USAC on September 4, 2007. Those revised forms reflect downward adjustments to Compass' reported revenues; thus, all payments made by Compass to date have been invoiced by the various administrative organizations at inflated rates, rendering all such contributions at least partial overpayments.

No public interest warrants a departure here from the well-established one-year limitations period. Thus, cancellation of the portion of the proposed forfeiture falling outside the 12-month limitations period is warranted.

VI. THE NAL IS PROCEDURALLY FLAWED AND INEFFECTIVE

Compass has demonstrated that it is not providing the types of services nor is it the type of Company that would subject it to the Commission's rules and communications laws the Commission alleges were violated.²¹⁴ See Section IV.A through F, supra. Furthermore, Compass has provided conclusive evidence that, even if it were subject to the cited rules and laws, it did not violate them. See Sections II, III and IV.G through I, supra. And, at the very least, Compass has shown that if any violations did occur, they were neither willful nor repeated, but were instead the result of reasonable interpretations for which no penalties may lawfully be imposed. For these reasons, the Commission should cancel the NAL in its entirety and issue a Cancellation Order setting the record straight and clearing Compass' name. The Commission has all the more reason to follow this course of action given the defective NAL.

The Commission violated its own procedural rules and forfeiture guidelines in issuing the NAL against Compass and, in so doing, has deprived Compass of the due process rights these rules are intended to protect. The Commission's procedural violations render the NAL ineffective, ab initio.²¹⁵

The procedural rules Compass alleges the Commission violated are:

Sec. 1.80 Forfeiture proceedings.

(a) Persons against whom and violations for which a forfeiture may be assessed. A forfeiture penalty may be assessed against any person found to have:

(2) Willfully or repeatedly failed to comply with any of the provisions of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended; or of any rule, regulation or order issued by the Commission under that Act or under any treaty, convention, or other agreement to which the United States is a party and which is binding on the United States...

(f) Notice of apparent liability. Before imposing a forfeiture penalty under the provisions of this paragraph, the Commission or its designee will issue a written notice of apparent liability.

(1) Content of notice. The notice of apparent liability will:

(i) Identify each specific provision, term, or condition of any act, rule, regulation, order, treaty, convention, or other agreement, license, permit, certificate, or instrument of authorization which the respondent has apparently violated or with which he has failed to comply,

(ii) Set forth the nature of the act or omission charged against the respondent and the facts upon which such charge is based,

(iii) State the date(s) on which such conduct occurred, and

(iv) Specify the amount of the apparent forfeiture penalty.

47 C.F.R. §1.80(a) and (f) (emphasis added).

The Commission's rules require forfeitures be based on "findings" and "facts." The forfeitures proposed in the NAL, however, are based on discredited evidence and an incomplete record, both of which the Commission should have been aware of prior to issuing the NAL. As set forth in Sections II and IV.C-E, supra, Compass conclusively establishes its record of full and timely payment of all invoiced charges rendered by the FCC and the administrators of the USF, NANP, and LNP during the statutorily permissible 12-month forfeiture period, see Section V, supra. To the extent it failed to fully pay any invoice, specifically referencing NECA TRS invoices, Compass promptly took all actions required of it to ensure that its "non-payment" did not result in a violation of the Commission rules. See generally, Section II, supra. There are no "facts" to speak of, at least none which were properly investigated before being "set forth" in the NAL. The Commission simply cannot make findings where it has no verified facts upon which to base them. And the lack of verified facts in the NAL renders the "notice" defective and unenforceable.²¹⁶

CONCLUSION

By reason of the foregoing, Compass Global, Inc., hereby respectfully requests that the Commission dismiss the NAL in its entirety and direct the Enforcement Bureau to terminate proceeding File No. EB-06-IH-3060. Compass also respectfully requests that the Commission hold in abeyance all purported collection actions pending full and final resolution of Compass' further appeal of the June 2, 2008 Administrator's Decision and Compass' pending TRS appeals; Compass also respectfully requests that the Commission direct NECA to issue rulings on Compass' pending appeals within thirty (30) days of the date of full and final resolution of the issues raised in Compass' USAC appeal. Compass further requests that the FCC take such actions as may be necessary to bring about the dismissal of the pending Department of Treasury federal debt collection proceeding against it.

²¹⁶ See Williston Basin Interstate Pipeline Co. v F.E.R.C. 165 F.3d 54 (C.A.D.C., 1999) ("It is well-established that '[a] party is entitled ... to know the issues on which decision will turn and to be apprised of the factual material on which the agency relies for decision so that he may rebut it. Indeed, the Due Process Clause forbids an agency to use evidence in a way that forecloses an opportunity to offer a contrary presentation.") citing Bourman Transp., Inc. v Arkansas-Best Freight System, Inc., 419 U.S. 281, 288 n. 4, 95 S.Ct. 438, 42 L.Ed.2d 447 (1974); see also Hatch v FERC, 654 F.2d 825, 835 (D.C.Cir.1981) (same); United Gas Pipe Line Co. v FERC, 597 F.2d 581, 586-87 (5th Cir.1979) ("The law will not tolerate ... after-the-fact, in fact retroactive, imposition of standards," especially where there is "no evidence either to support or justify" the new standard.).

And, finally, to the extent the Commission concurs with the legal analysis and conclusions in Sections IV.A through F, infra, that Compass is not an entity subject to registration and Form 499 reporting requirements, Compass respectfully requests that the Commission: (1) direct the administrators of the respective funds and programs to which Compass paid contributions and fees in the past to issue full refunds of all payments made, including penalties and interest; and (2) order these administrators to suspend and cancel all future invoicing.

RE: Compass Global, Inc.
2005 Form 499-A - Revised

To Whom It May Concern:

Enclosed please find a revised 2005 Form 499-A, filed on behalf of:

|---------------------|----------------------|
| Name: | Compass Global, Inc. |
| FCC Registration #: | 0009-6902-56 |
| Filer ID #: | 826216 |

Compass originally filed its 2005 Form 499-A on or around September 5, 2006, at the urging of the FCC's Investigations and Hearings Division ("IHD"). Compass understands that it is USAC's policy to disallow downward revisions to Form 499-A if the revised form is remitted in excess of one (1) year from the original filing due date revisions (i.e., changes that would result in a decreased USF contribution).¹ However, Compass' revised 2005 Form 499-A presents a unique circumstance for which waiver of the one-way ratchet statute of limitations is appropriate.

¹ Filers shall submit any revised FCC Form 499-A Worksheet that would result in decreased contributions by March 31 of the year after the original filing due date. See Instructions to Telecommunications Reporting Worksheet at pg. 12; see also, Federal-State Joint Board on Universal Service; 1998 Biennial Regulatory Review - Streamlined Contributor Reporting Requirements Associated with Administration of Telecommunications Relay Service, North American Numbering Plan, Local Number Portability, and Universal Service Support Mechanism; Changes to the Board of Directors of the National Exchange Carrier Association,

First, Compass files the instant revision within one (1) year from the date it filed its original 2005 Form 499-A. Compass filed its original on or around September 5, 2006 and now files this revised form on September 4, 2007, within a one (1) year period.

Waiver of the one-way ratchet is appropriate in this circumstance because the underlying policy behind the statute of limitations is not undermined by processing Compass' revision. The Commission's policy is to provide filers with the incentive to correct errors within 12 months. Refusal to waive the one-way ratchet and allow Compass' revision to be processed is inconsistent with the Commission's goals. Furthermore, it is discriminatory because USAC would halve the amount of time Compass has to file its revised 2005 Form 499-A in comparison to all other filers, which are allotted a full 12 months. Whereas all other filers have 12 months to identify and correct reporting errors, Compass would be provided half this time.

For reasons explained in a Petition for Review pending before the FCC, strict application of the 12 month firm deadline for submitting downward revisions would not be proper as applied to Compass. See In the Matter of Heller Information Services, Inc., Request for Review of the Universal Service Administrative Company's Rejection of a Revised FCC Form 499-A for FY-2003, Contingent Petition for Review, WC Docket No. 06-122 (Filed July 31, 2007).

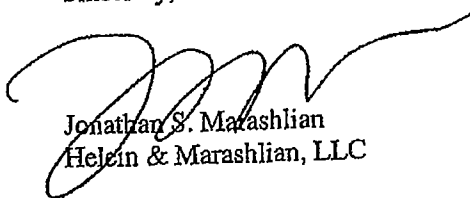

Second, waiver is justified because of the unique factual and legal circumstances presented. Compass made the original 2005 filing at the direction and insistence of the FCC's IHD. Compass believed it was not required to register as an Interstate Telecommunications Service Provider (ITSP) and file any 499s; hence it had not previously registered. However, after discussing matters with the IHD, Compass felt compelled to file in order to avoid an investigation. Despite Compass' filing of 2005, 2006 and 2007 original Form 499-As on or around September 5, 2006, the IHD nevertheless instituted an investigation several months later. The IHD investigation prompted Compass to retain the services of expert telecommunications legal counsel. After consulting with legal counsel, Compass determined that its original conclusions with respect to the FCC's authority to regulate its services and require it to register as an ITSP were correct and that the FCC had no such authority under applicable laws, regulations and precedent. Attached hereto is a detailed explanation of Compass' legal position, provided in the context of Compass' supplemental response to the FCC's investigation in File No. EB-06-IH-3060. Despite the FCC's lack of legal authority to regulate Compass' service offerings as either "telecommunications" or "telecommunications services," Compass remains willing to remain a registered ITSP, but only under the condition it be permitted to report revenue not as "prepaid calling card" revenue, but as ordinary long distance revenue, according to book values, not "face value." In the event USAC refuses to waive the one-way ratchet and process Compass' revised 2005 Form 499-A, Compass will file to cancel and withdraw all Form 499s and will seek full refund of all USF and other regulatory charges billed to date, as is its legal right due to its status as neither a telecommunications carrier nor telecommunications provider under applicable laws and regulations.

Inc., Order, CC Docket Nos. 96-45, 98-171, 97-21, 20 FCC Rcd 1012 (2004), applications for review pending.

We look forward to USAC's processing of Compass revised 2005 Form 499-A and we reserve all right to appeal an adverse decision.

Please contact Jonathan Marashlian at (703) 714-1313 with any questions concerning this filing.
Thank you for your assistance in this matter.

Sincerely,

Jonathan S. Marashlian
